TIMELY BASEBALL TOPICS

A YEAR ago, this department picked the Yankees to win the American League pennant — and they did. In the National League, the selection was the Dodgers — and they didn't. Our No. 2 choice, the Giants, finished on top. But, since it took a play-off to bring about that result, we're not apologizing. This season we like the Giants all the way and view the Reds, rather than the Dodgers, as the chief threat. In the American League, we'll string along again with the Yankees. But they may not have it as easy as they had in 1962, when they weren't sharp, either. A storm is brewing in Detroit. The Tigers, who cracked up last year, could make trouble this time, providing all the ifs, ands and buts work out.

The New Strike Zone

On January 26th, baseball's rules committee, headed by Secretary of Baseball Charles Segar, met in solemn conclave to make its annual review of the playing regulations.

Usually, little of consequence occurs at these meetings. Of all the major sports, baseball has done the least rules-changing over the years. Mainly, the rules committee's job is a matter of ironing out a few technicalities and clarifying interpretations that have caused recent trouble.

This year, the committee acted radically enough to get a lot of baseball people all het up. Besides making the customary minor adjustments, it redefined the strike zone.

In 1963, a ball — that is, a pitched ball — will be a strike if it passes over the plate anywhere between the batter's knees and shoulders, when he is in normal swinging stance. Since 1950, the upper and lower limits of the zone had been armpits and knee-tops.

Experts say the rules change will deepen the zone by 10 to 12 inches, with most of the extra latitude on top.

What effects will the change have?

That's a good question. You can get any number of answers, some strongly colored by the repplier's point of view.

Pitchers generally favored the change, on the theory that it gave them a bigger target to shoot at in their battle for survival against batters.

There were skeptical hurlers, though, who noted that the high pitch goes farther, when hit. They shuddered a bit at the thought of sluggers cutting at shoulder-height serves they formerly might have let go by.

Batters, on the defensive in the pitcher-

THE RACES—AS WE SEE THEM

AMERICAN LEAGUE

- 1—YANKEES.....Could be one of best Yankee teams
- 2—TIGERS.....Can't be as unlucky as in '62
- 3—TWINS.....Have crack infield, power, pitching
- 4—ANGELS Have worked wonders; could move up
- 5—ORIOLES.....Stronger on defense; attack weak
- 6—INDIANS.....A "dark horse"; may make trouble
- 7—WHITE SOX.....Pitching big hope; infield shaky
- 8—A's.....Have made gains; could surprise
- 9—RED SOX.....Skippy pitching creates problems
- 10—SENATORS.....Need a lot more of everything

NATIONAL LEAGUE

- 1—GIANTS.....A solid team, with power to burn
- 2—REDS Extra pitching makes them dangerous
- 3—DODGERS.....Must settle infield, find a starter
- 4—PIRATES.....Revamped infield is key element
- 5—PHILLIES Made sensational progress in '62
- 6—CARDINALS Added power, defense by changes
- 7—BRAVES.....Wearing thin; face rebuilding job
- 8—CUBS.....An enigma; could move up or down
- 9—COLTS.....Building, but for future—not now

A LOOK AT THE ORIOLES

Infield — Should be outstanding. Getting Aparicio adds strength at short; Johnson, also new, is a versatile reserve, with punch. Robinson at third, is best in league and Gentile provides power at first. Adair, a rising star, rounds out a strong unit, at second.

Outfield — The key is Powell. If he hits to expectations, department will hold own. Brandt and Snyder are dependable. Getting Smith adds righty power. He'll see a lot of action as a swing replacement.

Catching — Should be stronger, with Brown, a slick receiver, as No. 1. Lau and Landrith are lefty alternates, with Orsino also in picture as righty spare.

Pitching—Well fixed for starters, with youngsters Barber, Pappas, Estrada and McCormick backed by Roberts and Hall. May need bullpen help for Stu Miller, Stock and Burnside. Rookies John Miller, Narum and McNally will be examined.

Summary — Appear to have helped themselves by trades and could bounce back into contention. Lack of over-all power remains a problem and bench could be stronger. But have enough pitching to make trouble.

A LOOK AT THE RED SOX

Infield — Appears improved. In Stuart at first, have long-needed righty power hitter. Schilling at second, Bressoud at short and Malzone at third are good defensively and Schilling figures to hit better than last year. Mantilla and Williams strengthen bench.

Outfield — Plans call for Yastrzemski, a budding star, to move to center. Mejias, a new righty power hope, will be in left and Clinton in right. Geiger is No. 1 reserve, with rookie Jernigan another prospect. Over-all outlook optimistic.

Catching — Dubious. Tillman, the best receiver, has to prove he can hit. Nixon bats lefty, lacks power.

Pitching — Thin. Need starters to support Monbouquette, Conley and Wilson. Rookies Spanwick, Wood, Morehead and McDonald will be tried, along with Earley and Nichols. Bullpen well-stocked, with Lamabe joining Radatz, Fornieles and Delock.

Summary — Johnny Pesky, an energetic new manager, has first-division hopes. The Sox have a chance to rise; they've made gains, particularly in righty power and bench strength. But battery deficiencies could be a drag.

A LOOK AT THE WHITE SOX

Infield — Questionable. Set at first, with Cunningham, a good hitter, and second with Fox, though he's slowing down. Will go at short with Hansen, who was subpar with Orioles in '62. Third is wide open. Rookies Ward or Jones may land job.

Outfield — Robinson, gaining star stature as a hitter, will have ballhawk Landis and Hershberger as fellow starters. As a group, they lack power. Maxwell and Nicholson are the chief reserves. They can hit the long ball.

Catching — Adequate. Carreon, who took over in '62, will be backed by veteran Lollar and Martin, a converted infielder.

Pitching — Has promise. Herbert, Pizarro, Buzhardt and Horlen shape up as the top starters, with Fisher and Baumann in reserve. Rookie De Busschere is rated a bright prospect. Wilhelm will bolster strong bullpen.

Summary — Have enough pitching to make things interesting but, with lack of power and unsettled infield, it's difficult to see how they can make a real run for the flag.

A LOOK AT THE INDIANS

Infield — There'll be new men at the corners, at least. Adcock and Whitfield, acquired in trades, will share first. Third is wide open, with rookie Alvis a good bet. Kindall and Held hold over at second and short, but if unrostered rookie Martinez comes through, Held might move to third or the outfield.

Outfield — There's a surplus here, raising problems of selection. Francona is the one sure bet. Kirkland, Luplow, Tasby, Green and Cline will have to battle rookies Bond and Davalillo.

Catching — Power-hitting Romano remains

No. 1. Rookies Lipski or Swift, who hit lefty, may displace Edwards as No. 2.

Pitching — Have nucleus for good staff, with qualified starters in Donovan, Grant, Latman, Ramos, Perry and Bell. Will look for lefty help from among Nischwitz, Allen and McDowell. Rookie Weaver and Walker may join bullpen corps, which needs bolstering.

Summary — Veteran manager Birdie Tebbetts, called in to restore order, may make sweeping changes. He takes over a fair squad, but things seem too unsettled for it to be a real contender this season.

A LOOK AT THE TIGERS

Infield — Getting Phillips back should solve third base problems. Cash, McAuliffe and Fernandez seem set at other posts. Wert, a rookie third baseman, may join Wood and Wert on bench. Department has fair punch, could be better defensively.

Outfield — Starting unit of Kaline, Bruton and Colavito ranks with best and, with Herzog added to Morton and Goldy, there's good bench protection.

Catching — Gambling that Triandos can regain old batting form. If not, rookies Freehan and Sullivan will share load with Roarke. Freehan is highly-rated.

Pitching — Key is Lary. If his arm is O.K., will be deep in starters. Others include Bunning, Aguirre, Mossi, Foytack and Regan. Anderson, obtained from Cubs, will join Fox in bullpen. Also have good young prospects in Gallagher, Koplitz, Egan, Dustal, Lolich and Humphries.

Summary — Picked to make race against Yankees in '62, they flopped, largely because of injuries to Lary and Kaline. Have added strength and rate as chief threat again. But need top performance from key men to offset possible infield and catching weakness.

MUNICIPAL STADIUM — Capacity 32,561

Games start—1:30 or 7 P.M., Sunday 2 P.M., twilight 6 P.M. Prices—$3 box, $2 reserved, $1.50 grandstand. TV—Selected road games, WDAF (5). Radio—All games, WDAF. Phone—HU 3-9911.

A LOOK AT THE ATHLETICS

Infield — Well set here. Siebern at first and Lumpe at second are established stars. Howser, injured most of '62, is a rising shortstop and Charles had a fine rookie year at third. Causey provides strong leftside protection.

Outfield — Have fair potential. Jimenez, Cimoli, Tartabull, Alusik and DelGreco, who carried load in '62, will be challenged by rookies Kern and Wojcik. Kern's power gives him a real chance; the long ball is a crying need.

Catching — Could use help. Holdovers Sullivan and Azcue are weak hitters. Bryan, who has lefty power, may make team.

Pitching — Appears improved, but still far from solid. Top starting prospects are Rakow, Wickersham, Bowsfield, Bass, Pfister and Pena. Wyatt and Segui head relief corps. Rookie Santiago, who won 16 at Albuquerque, will get trial. Need another lefty.

Summary — If pitchers deliver for new manager, Ed Lopat, this could be best A's team in Kansas City. But lack of power and other shortcomings downgrade it as a contender.

A LOOK AT THE ANGELS

Infield—Set on right side, with hard-hitting Lee Thomas at first and Billy Moran at second. Fregosi may displace Koppe at short and Satriano, when free of Army duty, will challenge Torres at third. Bob Sadowski adds bench strength.

Outfield—Have solid regulars in Wagner and Pearson. George Thomas, in Army until last August, is likely third starter. Hunt, hurt last year, is chief reserve. Simpson, who hit 42 homers for San Jose, may stick.

Catching—Rodgers, a '62 rookie star, and Ed

Pitching—Hope to bolster staff headed by McBride, Chance, Lee, Belinsky and Grba. Bought Turley from Yankees on trial and will test rookies Newman, Navarro, Richardson and Nelson. Moeller, back from service, may join Morgan in bullpen.

Summary—Have made spectacular progress in first two years. It may be asking too much to expect immediate further gains, but have enough good new youngsters to command respect. If they stabilize line-up early enough, could be dangerous.

A LOOK AT THE TWINS

Infield—Undoubtedly will stand pat with crack '62 quartet of Power, Allen, Versalles and Rollins. Could use bench help against chance of sophomore slumps by Allen and Rollins. Banks and Mincher are chief reserves.

Outfield—Pretty well set here, too, with Allison, Green and Killebrew as hold-over starters. Lemon, injured in '62, will add bench power. Tuttle also is on hand and Oliva, who hit .350 for Charlotte, will get a trial.

Catching—Have about the best in the business in Battey. Zimmerman will battle for No. 2 job against rookies Ratliff and McCabe.

Pitching—Have solid starters in Pascual, Kaat, Kralick and Stigman and fair relief corps in Moore, Sullivan, Stange and Pleis. Need more first-line depth, with emphasis on right-handers. Bonikowski is best bet.

Summary—Power and strong starters make them a threat. But there's little protection against casualties on the pitching side, or the chance that young infielders won't match their '62 play.

Games start—2 or 8 P.M., double-headers 1:30 or 6 P.M. (Sundays 2 P.M.) Prices—$3.50 box, $2.50 reserved, $1.30 grandstand, 75¢ bleachers. TV—81 home and about 50 road games, WPIX (11). Radio—All games, WCBS. Phone—CY 3-4300.

A LOOK AT THE YANKEES

Infield — Must replace Skowron at first. Think they have man in Pepitone. Long is available for spot use and rookie Hegan will get trial. No worries at other posts, with Richardson, Kubek and Boyer in place. Rookies Gibbs or Gonzales may join Linz on bench.

Outfield — Maris, Mantle and Tresh make up the strongest trio in game, and Lopez is a competent spare. A large contingent of multi-purpose players add depth.

Catching — Have Blanchard and Berra, now a player-coach, to backstop brilliant Howard but must soon develop younger talent. No rookie help in sight.

Pitching — Have blue-chip starters in Terry and Ford and a rising star in Stafford. Figure on Williams, obtained from Dodgers, as No. 4 starter. Coates, Sheldon, Brown, Daley, Bridges, Arroyo and Kunkel provide depth. Bullpen needs reorganizing.

Summary — If everything clicks, this could be one of best Yankee teams. But first, catcher and pitcher are potential trouble spots and Mantle's condition always is a worry. Still, they have to be the automatic favorite again — and could win big.

A LOOK AT THE SENATORS

Infield — Slated for thorough shake-up. Plan to go with rookie Alvarez at first. Cottier will stay at second, but rookie Brinkman may displace Hamlin at short and Breeding, obtained from Orioles, will be tried at third. Not an impressive group.

Outfield — A brighter department. Hinton bloomed as a star last year and Piersall can do much better than in '62. Shetrone, obtained from Orioles, will battle Lock and King for other regular job.

Catching — Should be better, with Leppert joining Schmidt and Retzer, who had fine first season.

Pitching — Has fair potential. Stenhouse, Cheney, Osteen, Rudolph and Daniels rate as top starters, with Hobaugh, Hannan available for relief. Look for help from rookies Baird, Bouldin and Duckworth.

Summary — Talent available is far too skimpy to hope for rise from cellar. Need help almost everywhere, particularly in infield and power departments. Ownership and front-office changes may expedite building efforts, which lagged under old regime.

CHICAGO CUBS

WRIGLEY FIELD - Capacity 36,755

Games start—1:30 P.M., double-headers 1 P.M.
Prices—$3 box, $1.51 grandstand, 75¢ bleachers.
TV—All home, some road games; WGN (9). Radio
—All games, WGN. Phone—BU 1-5050.

A LOOK AT THE CUBS

Infield - Have better-than-fair holdover quartet in Banks, Hubbs, Rodgers and Santo. Added reserve strength by getting Grammas, Boros and Aspromonte. This is a strong department.

Outfield - Must rebuild. Williams is outstanding and Brock and Landrum showed promise in '62. Counting on rookies Ott and Mathews. Will and Murphy also are in fight for jobs.

Catching - Have confidence in Bertell, who spent part of last year in service. Barragan and Schaffer will compete for No. 2 job, with Massa.

Pitching - Acquired staff leader in Jackson. Other likely starters are Buhl, Ellsworth, Hobbie and Koonce. Bulpin shapes up well, with McDaniel joining Elston and Schultz. Rookie Burdette is another prospect and Brewer also could be helpful.

Summary - Hard to peg. Have some talent. But gave up power in trades, their coaching-board system of running team has been an unsettling influence and pitching is not impressive. Should be stronger than '62, but another low finish is indicated.

A LOOK AT THE REDS

Infield—If Freese is sound, should be outstanding. The line-up figures to be Coleman, Blasingame, Cardenas and Freese, with Kasko and Bright, new to team, in reserve. Rookie Harper could be a threat to Freese at third.

Outfield—Have topnotchers in Robinson and Pinson. Post, Lynch and Keough round out strong cast. Could use another starter. As a group, packs a lot of power. Robinson is as good as they come.

Catching—Figures to be improved. Edwards found himself last year and is a solid No. 1 man. Having Foiles the whole year is a gain and rookie Gonder shows hitting promise.

Pitching—Strong on top, with Purkey, Jay and O'Toole as prime starters. Count on Maloney as fourth starter, with rookie Ellis, Nuxhall and Owens other possibilities. With Brosnan, Henry, Klippstein and Sisler as leaders, bullpen is well-manned. With breaks, could have outstanding staff.

Summary—Shape up as chief threat to Giants and Dodgers. Have solid cast, power and great pitching potential. Could have infield troubles, though, and pitching depth, though indicated, can't be guaranteed.

A LOOK AT THE COLTS

Infield—Relatively strong. Added punch by getting Runnels, a 2-time A.L. batting champ, to play first. Temple or rookie Williams will be at second, Lillis or rookie Hartman at short, and Aspromonte at third.

Outfield—Unsettled. Spangler and Warwick are chief holdovers. Also in picture are Hardy, Mota and rookies Burton, Roberts, Davis, Paciorek and Staub, who also plays first. Have many question marks.

Catching—Just fair. Smith and Ranew, who platooned last year, probably will do so again, until rookies like Bateman are ready.

Pitching—Making progress toward forming a staff. Have strong leader in Farrell. Bruce, Golden, Johnson, Brunet and Woodeshick are other starters. McMahon and Kemmerer are chief relievers. Have good youngsters, but they aren't ready yet.

Summary—Don't seem likely to show much immediate improvement, but are building soundly and should be heard from in future. Current team lacks power and has too many weak spots to climb far up ladder.

Infield—Departure of Adcock leaves hole at first. Tommie Aaron and Larker will try to fill it. Otherwise, it's a hold-over unit, with Bolling, McMillan and Mathews at other spots. Could use bench help, with Menke in service.

Outfield—Still looking for worthy companions for the great Henry Aaron. Bell, Maye, Johnson and Jones are top eligibles. Rookies Clark and Blackaby may also figure in fight for jobs.

Catching—They don't come much better than Crandall. Uecker will support him until Torre finishes Army stint.

Manager—Bobby Bragan (10). Coaches—Ken Silvestri (3), Jo-Jo White (4), Whit Wyatt (5), Dixie Walker (6).

Pitching—Made progress here last year, should pay off. In support of the great Spahn and Shaw, have youngsters Hendley, Cloninger and Lemaster, plus Butler, Piche and rookie Schneider. Restocked bullpen includes Fischer, Funk and Raymond. Status of Burdette and Willey is uncertain, but they add depth.

Summary—Striving for new look under a new manager—Bobby Bragan—and new local ownership. Prospects so-so. With good pitching, could make trouble, but still have holes to fill, especially in outfield.

A LOOK AT THE METS

Infield—No position is set. Throneberry and Hodges probably will share first and Neal will play somewhere. Others in picture include Green, Chacon, Burright, Kanehl, Cook, Fitzpatrick, Schreiber and Harkness.

Outfield—Thomas is a certain regular. After that, it will be pick and choose among Hickman, Christopher, rookie Smith and whoever else bobs up—maybe Chacon or Coleman.

Catching—Two or three will be selected from among Taylor, Sherry, Cannizzaro and Coleman, who may shift to outfield.

Pitching—The chief load probably again will fall on Craig, Hook, Jackson, Anderson and MacKenzie. Hope for help from Hawkins, Cisco, Foss, Daviault and rookies Belcher, Bearnath and Rowe. Without further additions, it's a very skimpy staff.

Summary—Immediate prospects of improvement are not bright. But should be better organized and are building from underneath, which may produce long-range results. Probably will trade, but lack bait to put over many big deals.

A LOOK AT THE PHILLIES

Infield—Addition of Hoak at third should help. Amaro is brilliant defensively at short and Taylor is sound at second. Sievers provides power at first. Have good bench protection in Torre and Wine. All in all, a sound department.

Outfield—Have talented young starting trio in Gonzalez, Callison and Demeter, and power-hitting reserve in Covington. Rookies Herrnschein and Allen will compete for job as second spare. Unit has power.

Catching—Have added versatile extra in Averill, Dalrymple who found himself in '62, remains No. 1, with Oldis, a slick receiver, also available.

Pitching—On thin side, with off-season injuries to Bennett and rookie Gibson adding to worries on this score. Have strong staff leader in Mahaffey. Other possible starters are Hamilton, Green, McLish and Bennett, if ready. Baldschun and Short head bullpen corps.

Summary—Most improved team in majors in '62, could continue to rise. But pitching seems too skimpy for them to make a real run for flag.

A LOOK AT THE PIRATES

Infield—An interesting experiment is in progress. Sent away three long-time regulars in trades and are starting afresh. New order calls for young Clendenon to play first and Mazeroski to hold over at second. Schofield, or Gotay, will be at short and bonus rookie Bailey has been assigned to third.

Outfield—Retain starting trio of Clemente, Virdon and Skinner. It's a solid unit, but deficient in long-ball power. Added reserve strength by getting Savage but could use another quality spare.

Catching—On his hitting, Burgess remains

No. 1. Support will be mustered from among Pagliaroni and rookies Plaskett and McFarlane.

Pitching—Deeper, perhaps, than any club in majors. It comes down to selecting those who can do job. Starting eligibles include Friend, Law, McBean, Francis, Cardwell, Schwall, Haddix, Sturdivant and others. Face leads strong bullpen corps.

Summary—A pennant threat, on pitching potential. But reconstructed infield must prove itself and over-all lack of power could be grave handicap, if rest doesn't click.

A LOOK AT THE CARDINALS

Infield—Acquiring Groat to play short should be steady influence. Well fixed at first with White, second with Javier and third with Boyer. This is a solid defensive unit and has punch. Could use bench help.

Outfield—Have added needed power hitter in Altman. Flood, in center, is rising star. Musial continues to be great, but will be on limited duty. Minoso, whose status is in doubt, and James are spares.

Catching—Could stand improvement. Rookie

McCarver will challenge hold-overs Oliver and Sawatski.

Pitching—Gave up first-line strength in deal with Cubs, but retain competent starters in Gibson, Broglio, Washburn, Simmons and Sadecki. Count on Bauta, Shantz and Oliver for bullpen duty. Department seems a bit shy.

Summary—Have trouble-making potential, but don't look strong enough in battery positions to be vital factor in race. Put them down as "dark horse."

SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS

CANDLESTICK PARK — Capacity 42,500

Games start—1 or 8:15 P.M., Sunday double-headers 12 noon. Prices—$3.50 box, $2.50 reserved, $1.50 grandstand, 90¢ bleachers. TV—9 road (L.A.) games, KTVU (2). Radio—All games, KSFO. Phone—DE 4-1011.

A LOOK AT THE GIANTS

Infield—Have topflight hold-over unit in Cepeda at first; Hiller at second; Pagan at short, and Davenport at third. Strong on attack, as well as defense. Repossessing Amalfitano adds bench strength and have rookies who can help.

Outfield—As good as they come, with the great Mays and Felipe Alou, a rising star, as everyday regulars; Kuenn and McCovey as left-field platooners and Matty Alou as spare.

Catching—Gained stature in '62, with rise of rookie Haller as alternate for Bailey, and now have added Coker, a righty hitter.

Pitching—Of Big Four starters, Pierce and Sanford are the old side. But O'Dell and Marichal are still young and strong, Fisher has been added and rookies Garibaldi and Herbel may be ready to share load. Revamped bullpen will feature Larsen, Bolin and Hoelt.

Summary—Not a stick-out, but the team to beat, probably in a close race with Dodgers, Reds, Pirates and maybe one or two others. Have power, defense and pitching potential.

HALL OF FAME

In 1936, baseball established a shrine for its immortals at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Every second year, senior writers vote on which players of the preceding 30 years should be enshrined.

To be elected a player must be named on 75% of the ballots.

Every year a special committee also passes on the qualifications of old-time players. The special committee named John Clarkson, Eppa Rixey, Elmer Flick and Sam Rice in January, 1963, increasing the Hall of Fame roster to 94.

HALL OF FAME ROSTER

FIRST BASEMEN—Adrian Anson, Dan Brouthers, Frank Chance, Charles A. Comiskey, Jimmy Foxx, Lou Gehrig, Hank Greenberg, George Sisler, Bill Terry.

SECOND BASEMEN—Eddie Collins, Johnny Evers, Frank Frisch, Charlie Gehringer, Rogers Hornsby, Napoleon Lajoie, Jackie Robinson.

THIRD BASEMEN—Jimmy Collins, John J. McGraw, Pie Traynor, Franklin (Home Run) Baker.

batter war — unless they're Stan Musial, Henry Aaron, Willie Mays, Frank Robinson or Mickey Mantle — tended not to like the change.

Their reasoning was that it gave them extra air-space to guard, without adding to their freedom of choice in selecting a pitch to cut at.

Depending on whom you audition, the change could result in lower batting averages, but more home runs; fewer bases on balls, but more strike-outs; more manager-pitcher mound conferences, but faster ball games — and a lot of other things.

But, all knowing parties agree, the real key is how the umpires call the pitches. How quickly can or will the arbiters, conditioned by reactions built up over the years, adjust to change? That's the big question.

And here's why. Balls and strikes, in baseball parlance, are "judgment calls." The way the man in blue sees a pitch is the way it is — and if you make a fuss about it, you're automatically out of the old ball game.

Swipe vs. Swat

In 1961, with Roger Maris hitting 61 homers, Mickey Mantle swatting 54 and a lot of other sluggers blasting away at the fences with good effect, muscle had a big inning.

In 1962, no player hit 50 homers. But an important milestone still was passed. Maury Wills of the Dodgers whizzed by it by stealing 104 bases, topping Ty Cobb's 1915 record total of 96.

All right, all right — Wills played in 165 games (expansion's 162, plus the Dodgers' 3 pennant play-off games with the Giants). But — in the 156 games it took Cobb to get his 96, Maury got 97.

Put on the spot again, Commissioner Ford Frick reasonably enough decided again in favor of co-listing in the record books. He made the point that Wills had only 95 steals in the 154 games that constituted Cobb's normal season — Ty had the benefit of two darkness-caused ties, a phenomenon of his unlighted baseball era.

Don't Sell Long Ball Short

Despite its temporary eclipse by the humble stolen base, the home run still is baseball's big hit. The homer, more than anything else, brings the fans into the park. And the players who hit them drive the paid-for Cadillacs.

On the subject of homers, how vulnerable is Ruth's other — greater — record of 714 homers for his career? With so many moderns edging up the all-time list, we got thinking about this recently and did a little pad-scratching.

The Babe's 714 homers were distributed over 22 major league seasons, giving him an annual average of 32.5. In a sense, then, that's the target: to top Ruth's average and stick around at least as long.

Of the active players with that record in possible reach, six have higher averages than Ruth: Eddie Mathews 36.3, Frank Robinson 34.4, Mickey Mantle 33.7, Willie Mays and Ernie Banks 33.5 each and Henry Aaron 33.1.

There are rubs, though. From 7 seasons for Robinson to 12 for Mantle, these players, most of them already 30 or so, have a long way to go to match Ruth's 22-season tenure in the majors.

More than that, the record-breaker-to-be must hit the big-season jackpot. Ruth topped 40 homers 11 times and 50 four times. This gave the Babe a cushion, coming — when he was chiefly a pitcher — and going — when he was chiefly a curiosity.

Mantle has had two 50-homer seasons and topped 40 two other times. Mays has been over 50 once and reached 40 twice. Banks has hit 40 or more five times, Mathews four times, Aaron three times. Robinson, junior in the group; has yet to reach 40.

To have a chance, they'll have to step up the pace while still in their prime. Ruth's 714 looks like a number that will continue to flash on the record board for quite some time.
